"Whereas so much contemporary country music seems to have caught the pop and rock musical freeway, Few Miles South sticks with tried and true country backroads" - SKOPE MAGAZINE

"aiming to revive the golden age of country music" - KCRW, NPR

"grandiose guitar picking, that even the likes of Billy Strings and Molly Tuttle would be proud of" - THE BOOT

"Wow, this is brilliant..." - BBC RADIO

Few Miles South is a female fronted, national touring country and roots group created by south GA raised, Blake English, and Los Angeles native, Tori Lund. Dubbed "the country Pretenders" (WSM), Tori's ethereal vocals are the yin to Blake's chicken pickin' yang.

Thoughtful songs set to nostalgic twang and knee slappin' grooves attract listeners across generations. Their first single "On Down the Road" was awarded HOTDISC Country's Best International Music Video in 2017 and their 2022 single, "Doggone", reached #2 on the UK charts. FMS' music has been featured on PBS and Ditty TV and they've opened for acts like Shenandoah, Junior Brown, The Kentucky Headhunters and Daniel Donato.

They have 3 studio releases including a recent 2020 Country/Bluegrass EP, Wiregrass, featuring collaboration with 2020 Grammy winning fiddler Michael Cleveland. FMS does all their producing and recording from English's own Southern Fried Studio, deep in the Georgia pines.

Few Miles South performs as a DUO, TRIO, QUARTET or FULL BAND.
